Preview Tier: The APVN Pitch Doc

Hello, fine people! If you are reading this, you've signed up for the preview tier and thus you get to see a rad thing! Thanks for joining and I hope you enjoy!

As I mentioned a few months ago, I dropped the Jake English Adventure project despite my undying desperate love for it because you.... can't monetize a fangame, can't sell it, and I couldn't justify continuing the project. Even though it's great. Alas.

Instead, I let my pals convince me to look at another story, one that we could spin off an monetize. And so, Team Honey Lamp reformed and we're now fuckdeep in the Alchemic Prince Visual Novel.

The plan is to create a fairly sizeable demo to show off the prologue of the story and sell the aesthetic, then use that for a Kickstarter campaign. Depending on how much we secure, the scope of the game will expand. We already have a lot of incentives and tiers in mind.

It's very unlikely that any info about the game will be public until very close to the KS campaign. So, if you'd like a glance at what's to come: Read the \(slightly redacted\) APVN pitch document.

Hopefully this is obvious, but don't share the doc around. If I suspect that going on, I'll close it out.

Regardless, I'm so goddamn excited about this project. We've been working on it for months and its gone through a few very important iterations. What we're planning should be a blast, and hopefully something people will be interested in.

Lemme know what you think! My poor team has been chipping away at this for a while and feedback would be a good morale boost.

this is a really intriguing game plan, and also I love the apothecary GUI?? (partly because I'm a huge sucker for minimalist black/white/gold with a certain fantasy flourish but still.) also, Yasha looks So Fuckin Cute I wish I could date him and the prince simultaneously thanks. I'm definitely gonna be all over that demo and kickstarter when it comes! good luck to you all!!
