

Calls U.S. Despicable, Briton Evicts American Air Attache

Bristol, Pa., Officer Is Target; Incident Causes Amazement

LONDON (AP) — The ouster of a U.S. Air Force major from his furnished home aroused a mixture of views today on the present state of relations between Britons and the 80,000 Americans living in this country.

Maj. Eugene Sabatini, an assistant air attache, was dismissed two weeks ago by a landlord who denounced U.S. policy in the Middle East. News of it came out yesterday.

American diplomatic and military sources expressed amazement. They said the Sabatini ouster appeared to be the first of its kind. They were unanimous in describing their personal day-to-day contacts with Britons as very friendly, despite differences between the British and American governments.

The pro-English Standard, on the other hand, said the Sabatini incident "unfortunately is typical of a Maj. Sabatini widespread attitude of mind."

"Many Americans in this country have been made to feel unwelcome," the Standard said. "They have been cold shouldered in the shops. They have been refused petrol (gasoline) at the pumps."

Sabatini's ouster came prior to Britain's decision to withdraw her invading troops from Egypt and before the United States moved to help meet the oil shortage caused in this country by blockage of the Suez Canal.

Sabatini, 37, of Bristol, Pa., made no formal protest when told to move.

The dispossession was ordered by M. C. Holt, a former British army officer who is now partner in a real estate firm representing the owner of the house, who is overseas. Holt wrote Sabatini: "In view of the despicable conduct of the United States and the profound contempt that I, in common with many millions of my fellow countrymen, feel for that country and its nationals, I am not prepared to allow an American to occupy any property over which I have control."

Sabatini moved out at once. He stayed with friends until he found another house.

"When my British friends heard, I received nearly 20 letters apologizing for what had happened," Sabatini said. "When I moved into my new house, I showed Mr. Holt's letter to the landlord. He was very upset and he apologized to me."

"I can't understand why Mr. Holt was so bitter. After all, we are just doing a job here and we have nothing to do with American policy."

Holt was not available for comment today. Another spokesman for the real estate firm said stiffly: "Being professional people, we're not pleased with the publicity and we don't want any more. I'm not prepared to discuss the matter."

Newly Bought House Burns

Fire damaged a frame residence at 27 Aberfoyle Drive, Hamilton Square, this afternoon. Volunteer firemen were still trying to confine the blaze to the upper story at mid-afternoon.

The home is owned by Paul E. McGehean of 1410 State Highway 33, Hamilton Square. He recently purchased the house from the present occupant, Edward B. Gavenda. McGehean was scheduled to move into the Aberfoyle Drive dwelling within a few weeks.

Gavenda, a builder in Lower Makefield Township, Pa., was not at home when the fire was spotted at 1:30 p. m. His wife and two school-age daughters were also away.

Attorney Who Hit Pedestrian Fined, Rebuked

Say Wacks Yelled 'Get Out Of Way Or I'll Hit You'

Attorney Charles C. Wacks was fined $80 and his driver's license was suspended for six months in Traffic Court today by Magistrate Albert Cooper Jr.

Wacks was found guilty on a charge of failing to yield right of way to a pedestrian who was knocked down by his car at West State and Willow Street last month.

Five witnesses testified that Wacks, making a left turn from North Willow into West State, yelled to pedestrians to get out of the way or he would hit them. Supported by a cane, Mrs. Ethel Nelson, 59, of 115 Kirkbride Avenue, testified she suffered injuries to the back and left ankle in the mishap.

Wacks' own testimony was that he did not see the woman, that she was not in the crosswalk and that he did not make the remark. He said that, a few minutes earlier, he had told another woman almost struck by another car that she might get hurt if she did not watch her step.

Wacks' testimony also conflicted with that of the witnesses, including Vice Squad Patrolman John Sapp, as to which side of his car struck the woman. Wacks contended it was the left front, while the others said it was the right front.

Judge Cooper pointed out that the several witnesses were in accord and Wacks was the only one conflicting with them. He said (Continued on Page Four)

Top 'Bakeoff' Prizes Go To Calif. Woman

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Hildreth H. Hatheway, a housewife from Santa Barbara, Calif., today won the top prize of $25,000 and a free trip to Europe for herself and her husband in the eighth annual Grand National recipe and baking contest.

Mrs. Hatheway's winner in the two-day "bakeoff," sponsored by Pillsbury Mills, was a main dish of meat and baked dumplings in gravy, which she called California Casserole.

It is the first time a main dish ever has taken top money. Second grand prize of $5,000 went to a teen-aged girl for the first time. Fifteen-year-old Natalie R. Riggin, Olympia, Wash., took second money with her original recipe for Hoot Owl cookies, a butter type cookie with chocolate drops forming the owl eyes.

Awards also went to the first, second and third prize winners in the three categories in which the 100 finalists were entered—senior, junior and brides.

Again this year, it was the woman who walked away with the top cooking honors, although four teen-aged boys, and one man, Prof. C. R. Kinson of Ohio University, were among the 100 finalists.

Bar Owner, 5 Underage Patrons Fined

11 Of 15 Customers In Tavern Found To Be Teenagers

Heavy fines were imposed in Police Court yesterday on a tavern owner charged with selling beer to under-age patrons and five of his 11 young customers.

Michael Salay, 36, of 691 Lambertson Street, partner in the Pleasure Inn Tavern at 686 South Broad Street, paid $275 on 11 counts.

Magistrate Cooper imposed fines of $10 each on five teen-age customers. Suspended sentences were given two 19-year-old WAF's and an airman from McGuire Air Base. Two 17-year-old Bordentown High School students were referred to the Bureau of Juvenile Aid for investigation. The charge against another young airman was dismissed.

The judge originally imposed $25 fines on all 10 juveniles but after leaving the bench reconsidered the penalty.

The tavern is operated by Salay and Joseph Ketterer, 60, of 672 South Broad Street.

The arrests were touched off Friday night when Patrolmen Greener and Mullen said they saw a 17-year-old Bordentown Township youth toss a package containing six cans of beer under a parked automobile. He had just come from the tavern and police said he admitted buying the beer there for $1.10.

After he was questioned, other policemen went to the bar and found 15 patrons there, 11 of whom were under 21 and all in the 17-to-19 age bracket.

Magistrate Cooper gave the young patrons a lecture on the seriousness of their offense.

Salay was told that yesterday's penalties were only for violation of a city ordinance and that he would also face prosecution by city and state authorities under the ABC Act.

Blast Plane Wreck Clue

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Ground search parties prepared today to enter the rugged Mt. Silverpit area about 12 miles east of here to look for a Trans-Canada airliner missing with 62 occupants since Sunday night. Eight of the 59 passengers were Americans.

Search leaders said their "most promising lead" was a report of a "big blast" in the vicinity of 8,500-foot Mt. Silverpit. The report came from nine persons who were at a ski lodge on the Hope-Princeton highway north of the mountain.

People at the lodge said they heard the blast Sunday night soon after the four-engine North Star Canadian version of the American DC4, radioed it was returning to Vancouver with an inboard motor disabled.

Air search in the Hope, B. C., area yesterday was fruitless.

The plane had taken off from Vancouver for Calgary and points east about an hour before the pilot, Capt. Allan Clark, 35, Montreal, reported the inboard motor on the left side had failed near Hope and he was turning back to Vancouver, some 100 miles away.

'Argument For Raise' Creditors Garnished Wages Of Four Trenton Policemen

For the first time in the history of the Police Department, creditors have garnished the wages of four patrolmen, Public Safety Director Duch said today.

"That's the best argument I know for increasing the police salaries," said Duch.

Police are asking for an across-the-board 12 percent pay rise in 1957 plus a $100 a year clothing allowance and paid health insurance. The commission at budget time earlier this year promised an $180 increment to all policemen to become effective January 1.

All Hungary Paralyzed In Grip Of Full Strike

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—INS — The Communist Hungarian delegation walked out of the U. N. assembly today in protest over debate on Hungary.

Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath, who has been under scathing attack for "duping" the U. N. on the proposed visit by Dag Hammarskjold to Budapest, took the rostrum at the start of the morning assembly session of the protest against discussion of the Hungarian question.

Horvath, speaking on a point of order, said the discussion was "not in accord with the U. N. charter." Russia and its East European satellites have insisted that the debate on Hungary was interference in domestic Hungarian affairs.

Horvath told newsmen after his walkout that he intended to return to Budapest. It was not clear immediately whether the Hungarians were boycotting the entire assembly session or just the meetings on Hungary.

Horvath has been under increasing personal attack for discussing a visit by Hammarskjold to Budapest for December 16 while his government turned down the idea.

His status as legal representative of Hungary has come under fire from a majority of U. N. representatives and Cuba, Argentina and Chile have suggested the ouster of the Horvath group from the Assembly.

The Hungarian walkout came as the Assembly resumed debate on a Western proposal to condemn Russia as a charter violator for unleashing the bloodbath in Hungary.

The 70-nation forum also has before it a proposal by India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia demanding the continued presence of Soviet troops in Hungary and asking Hammarskjold to journey to Moscow to obtain their evacuation.

Assembly Majority Leader Eiden Mills, a sponsor of the bill, said its passage would allow New Jersey to have the "greatest amount of money ever to be spent on roads in this state."

But the vote was preceded by sharp Democratic criticism of the dip into surplus funds as "entirely inadequate," a "short-sighted policy" and a "rob Peter and pay Paul method" of financing.

Democratic Criticism
Assembly Leader William Kurtz declared the bill was designed to "force the Governor next year to adopt some new tax or tax increase."

Meyner originally proposed a gas-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax, a boost that would yield some $18 million a year, to match Federal funds allocated to New Jersey under the $3 billion national highway program.

Then when it became clear the tax boost would not be accepted by the Republican legislative majority, the Democratic Governor called in vain for a joint conference to work out some method of (Continued on Page Thirty-Three)

Anti-Soviet Outburst Hits Polish Port City

WARSAW (AP)—A wild anti-Russian demonstration was reported today from the big Polish port city of Stettin. Demonstrators marched on the Soviet consulate, smashed windows and tried to break in.

Communist authorities finally called in troops and "workers militia"—club-wielding strong-arm men—to disperse the crowd. Official reports blamed the outburst on "drunken hooligans." But reliable sources in Stettin said it was the outcome of a planned demonstration by students and young factory workers against events in Hungary.

The demonstration started early last night and continued until midnight. Government papers reported several policemen were beaten up and an undisclosed number of demonstrators arrested.

Stettin, on the Oder River estuary 80 miles northeast of Berlin, was the major port of German Pomerania until Poland seized it after World War II. It reportedly was the scene of shooting—still unconfirmed—between Polish and Soviet troops during Poland's "October revolution" which culminated in Moscow's grant of considerable independence to the government of nationalist Communist Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The Warsaw paper Zycie Warszawy said the riot started "when a gang of adventurers attacked and beat up a policeman who was escorting a troublesome drunkard."

The demonstration appeared certain to heighten the readiness of Polish authorities to deal with any action which might be thought likely to arouse Soviet suspicions.

The current issue of the student newspaper Horizonty was reported confiscated in entirety. Press control officials reportedly told the student publishers that to allow publication would be against the national interest.

Hungary U. N. Delegates Walk Out Of Assembly

PARIS (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in an indirect but forceful rebuke to Britain and France, told the 15-nation NATO Council today the United States still believes force is not the way to solve world problems.

He reiterated United States support of United Nations settlement of all international disputes.

Dulles made his remarks in a 50-minute speech to the opening private session of the NATO council this morning. It was reported in outline afterward by a NATO spokesman.

While expressing his faith in moral force, Dulles warned the West it still must maintain its military strength. To further that end, informed sources said outside the council chambers that the United States was ready to pour more millions into Europe. The sources said the United States would offer Britain more millions to keep its military commitments to NATO.

Dulles pledged that, as far as the United States was concerned, past differences were considered as being useful only as a guide to the future.

Russian Tanks Defied By Pickets

VIENNA (UP)—Hundreds of Russian tanks jockeyed Budapest in a ring of steel today. All Hungary lay paralyzed in the grip of one of the most complete strikes in history.

Refugees reaching Austria said the tanks stopped all movement in or out of the capital when the strike started officially at midnight 6 p.m. Monday EST. There were no reports of the tanks being in action although in many regions localized clashes broke out between defiant workers and Hungarian police.

The Russian tanks and armored cars sealed off the huge iron and steel complex on Budapest's Csepel Island. Patriot pickets outside the plants served notice they would fight any attempt by the Russians or police to penetrate into the factories.

The government-controlled Budapest radio indicated clearly the strike was the worst to date in Hungary, making it about the most complete walkout of all time.

The radio admitted rail transport was at a standstill, postal service was paralyzed, and factories were idle "because the workers are afraid of counter-revolutionary elements on strike." Gas and electricity services, however, continued to function.

The broadcasts made no mention of martial law scheduled to go into effect at 12 noon EST. Announcement of the decree first was made Sunday and was last mentioned in a 7 a.m. broadcast yesterday.

Police continued their methodical search for hidden arms. Under the martial law decree, persons caught with weapons after 8 p.m. were subject to instant death.

But there was no sign that the freedom fighters were hanging over their arms.

Reports reaching Budapest indicate the striking workers no longer considered it only a 48-hour walkout.

Workers in various parts of the country were quoted as saying the strike would go on until the hated puppet government of Premier Janos Kadar turned off the police state oppression.

Refuses All Demands
Kadar has refused all workers' demands for Democratic reforms in four weeks of negotiations with the Budapest Central Workers Council.

He outlawed the Central Workers Council and all regional councils and declared martial law throughout the stricken nation effective today.

The same hour was set by the Soviet command in Budapest as the deadline for surrender of all arms and weapons by Hungarian civilians.

The order, signed by Soviet Major General Lasenko, said persons found in possession of "illegal" arms will be subject to trial before summary court. The penalty could be death. But the order was being ignored.

Property To Be Seized
VIENNA (AP)—The Hungarian government announced over Budapest radio today that property of all persons who have left Hungary since the start of the rebellion Oct. 23 will be seized by the state.

The action was announced with all means, including the transporting of workers to their jobs in Russian army trucks, to smash a 48-hour general strike called by the Budapest Central Workers Council.

More than 130,000 refugees, who have registered in Austria, presumably will be affected by the new government measure unless they return before March 31, 1957. This is the amnesty date previously set by the government for persons who have fled from Hungary.
