Civic Association Conducts Outing

More Than 100 Attend Picnic at Washington Crossing Park

EWING TOWNSHIP, June 17.—Members and their families of the Fernwood Terrace Civic Association held a picnic last week at the Green Grove State Park, Washington Crossing. More than 100 persons were on hand for the event which was highlighted by games, refreshments and lunches served by the association.

The association awarded war stamps as prizes to winners of games. Ernest Kendall, president and historian of the organization, briefly outlined the aims and accomplishments of the association.

According to Kendall, the association, through the courtesy of the Mercer County Shade Commission, has arranged for the planting of a linden tree on every 50-foot lot on the Fernwood Tract.

Over the past two years there has been a considerable increase in the association's membership due to the many homes that have been erected on the tract.

The association sponsors a playground for the youth of the community and sports events for the youngsters are held regularly.

Arrangements for the picnic were under direction of John Updike, assisted by Henry Brandeis, William Ryan, Marvin French, Frank Williff and Ernest Kendall.

The next meeting of the association will be at the home of Daniel Scott, on Stratford Avenue, on June 21.

Princeton High Prizes Listed

Students Are Honored At Commencement Exercises

PRINCETON, June 17.—More than a score of students at the Princeton High School, whose achievements in various fields have been outstanding during the past year, were recipients of prizes at the graduation exercises Wednesday evening in McCarter Theatre.

The anniversary scholarship given by the Women's College Club of Princeton went to Margaret E. Wittmer. Consisting of $250, it is presented "to a girl who has high scholastic standing, who exhibits financial need and qualities of personality, service and the ability to overcome handicaps." The founders' scholarship of the College Club, "for scholarship, character and leadership," was divided equally between Jane Ann Jones, of the High School, and Miss Jean McAllister, of Miss Fine's School. It is also worth $250.

The medal given by New Jersey Alumni of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute for outstanding work in mathematics and science went to Felix Schweizer. A Florence Nightingale prize of $5 and first aid kit to the girl interested in nursing as a profession, who has made an excellent record in home nursing and Red Cross work, went to Janet Bergen.

Good citizenship medals for ninth grade pupils, awarded by the Princeton Chapter, D. A. R., were presented to Robert Holst and Mary Wesner. A medal offered by Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, to an outstanding member of the senior class went to Richard Lewis, while the post's auxiliary betowed its medal to Mary I. Hoagland as an outstanding girl in the senior class.

The history department's prize of $10 for completing the greatest number of courses in that subject with the best grades went to Margaret E. Wittmer. Jane Ann Jones won a year's subscription to a national magazine for completing four years in the school with the highest marks in the graduating class.

Other prizes follow:

Junior Order of American Mechanics $5 prize to highest ranking pupils in the seventh and eighth grades to Larissa Bonfante and Doris Brown in the seventh grade, and Bruno Netti in the eighth. Carmelo Dimeglio won the Latin department's prize of $5 as the senior with the best record in that subject, while Gordon Loos was given a similar award by the French department.

The Parent-Teacher Association's prize of $5 for the best record in science to Donald Rosenthal, and for mathematics, to Felix Schweizer. Antonia Sewell won the P. T. A. prize for the girl with the top grades in English, and Jane Ann Jones the prize in mathematics.

The class of 1898 prize of $10 for highest scholarship in English to Antonia Sewell, while Robert Shope won a $10 P. T. A. award as top-ranking pupil in the ninth grade. The P. T. A. award to the 10th grade student with the same record went to Mark Heald, and Jane Bolmer won the First National Bank award of $10 as the best pupil in the 11th grade.

Awards of $10 for first, second and third places in the commercial department, given by the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, went to William Ashton, Janet Koehler and Dorothy Titus, respectively. The Business and Professional Women's Club rewarded Cathryn Cevera for high marks in the commercial department, while the Friendship Club gave a prize of $10 to Lozia Arrington as a graduate of the Witherspoon School with the best scholastic record.

Awards of $10 each from the First National Bank went to Nancy Tucker and Donald Rosenthal, as students with high scholarship over a four-year period, who are planning to enter college. The Princeton Rotary Club prize for the student with the best scholastic average in four years went to Jane Ann Jones.

Margaret A. Wittmer won the Miles Thompson Memorial Cup. Given for the first time this year, it was awarded on a basis of "scholarship, character and service to the school."

Miss Musa Bride Of J. W. Bowen

Ceremony Is Performed At Hamilton Square Parsonage

MERCERVILLE, June 17.—Mrs. John Musa, of Somerville, announces the marriage of her daughter, Eleanor J., to First Sergeant John W. Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernasco, of 2889 Nottingham Way. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the Rev. Robert Howe, pastor of the Hamilton Square Methodist Church. The attendants were Miss Dorothy T. Schnitzer and Howell T. Jenkins. Mrs. Donald B. Steuart played the wedding march. After the ceremony the couple left on a short wedding trip.

First Sergeant Bowen is home on furlough after serving two and a half years in the north Pacific area. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernasco for the couple.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

BRISTOL, June 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGinley, of Wood Street, are parents of a daughter, born June 11 at Harriman Hospital.

Lieutenant Evelyn Vreeland

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Vreeland, of Dutch Neck, have received word that their daughter, Evelyn, has been promoted from second to first lieutenant. She is now serving at Station Hospital, Greensboro, N. C. Before her enlistment she was graduated from McKinley Hospital School of Nursing.

Soldier-Students Gone, USO Closes

Princeton Building to Be Turned Into An Officers' Club

PRINCETON, June 17.—Wartime trends in Princeton are reflected in the announcement made that the USO club on Mercer Street is to be replaced by an officers' club, the second to be established here. The need for such a move has been dictated by the great decrease in enlisted men on the campus and the expected influx of a larger number of men holding commissions.

With the virtual abandonment of the ASTP—it has dropped in enrolment from 1,200 to about a sixth of its former size—attendance at the USO became much smaller. In addition, a cut of about 25 percent in the V-12 program has been announced for next Fall.

What USO activities are carried on for those stationed at Princeton University are now ably administered on the campus, where a centre for enlisted men has been in existence for several months. The John Street branch of the USO will likewise continue to function.

The red brick building at 4 Mercer Street, which housed the USO for two years following its founding in the Summer after Pearl Harbor, has been purchased by the university. With this announcement comes word that it will now function as a branch of the officers' club, which has for the past year had its headquarters at 8 Stockson Street.

The principal increase in attendance at these establishments is expected to be navy men, of whom most will be in training at the indoctrination school here. The Government is known to be planning special postwar training for certain types of army officers, but whether any of these schools will be centered in Princeton has not been made public.

Walter W. Colpitts is president of the organization which oversees the activities of the two officers' clubs. Mrs. R. W. Trimpi is vice president, Harold E. Zarker is treasurer and Miss Ethel Boice is assistant treasurer. In addition to Colpitts, Zarker and Mrs. Trimpi, the board of directors includes George A. Brakeley, P. Mackay Sturges, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Richardson, Mrs. Richard W. Baker, Mrs. Robert N. Smyth, Mrs. William R. Breck and J. Seymour Montgomery, Jr.

Date Announced For Paper Drive

21 Tons Collected in June Campaign At Princeton

PRINCETON, June 17.—Forty-two thousand pounds of waste paper were salvaged by the June scrap drive, the committee in charge of this monthly project announced today. Greater cooperation from Princetonians in the matter of saving every last scrap of paper was noted in the report.

The next community-wide curbstone collection will take place on Wednesday, July 5. Householders who are leaving town before that time, or who wish to arrange special collections for any other reason, are asked to telephone the Community Service Centre at 130 Nassau Street.

In addition to paper, rags, tin cans, metal scrap and grease are still wanted in the largest possible quantities. Rubber and silk stockings have been dropped from the list of necessities.

Red Cross Work Report Is Issued

Morrisville Needs More Women to Make Surgical Dressings

MORRISVILLE, June 17.—The last meeting of the season for the Morrisville Branch of the Red Cross was held this week in the Community House.

In the absence of Mrs. Elwood Wahl, home nursing chairman, a report was submitted by Mrs. Thomas B. Stockham. Miss Laura Koch reported 162 visits for the month, and said that during her vacation period in July, her duties would be taken over by Mrs. Sophia Schmidt, graduate nurse from Abington Hospital.

Mrs. Harry Lair, branch chairman, was in charge of the business meeting. It was reported that 22,000 dressings were made by 60 workers in 600½ hours. Mrs. James Holzman, surgical chairman, again issued a call for more local women to assist in making dressings. Classes are held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings at the Community House.

During May, home service took care of 18 army and navy cases, which included cablegrams, extension of furloughs, etc.

Reports were made by Mrs. Coleman Morgan, treasurer, Mrs. C. Howell Windle and Mrs. Charles Metz.

Flemington Choir to Present Landis Cantata This Evening

Composer Has Been Organist of Presbyterian Church for 48 Years —Program to Be Sung from Original Manuscript

FLEMINGTON, June 17.—Norman Landis, organist of the Flemington Presbyterian Church for the past 48 years and former dean of the New Jersey Chapter, American Guild of Organists, will present his own cantata, "The Blind Man of Siloam," tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, in the Presbyterian Church.

Landis composed the cantata over a period of years with no thought of ever having it presented publicly. The work is based on the 9th chapter of the Gospel of St. John, and is sung entirely from manuscript.

Guest soloist will be Vivian T. Dey, tenor soloist of Dr. Clarence Dickinson's choir of the Brick Presbyterian Church, New York City, assisted by a chorus of 40 voices.

Other solo parts will be sung by Miss Hazel B. Adams, Mrs. Charles Hockenbury and Miss Flood Moore, sopranos, and Francis H. Strouse, baritone. The entire Presbyterian choir will take part in the cantata assisted by choir members of other churches in Flemington.

Landis is well known in this county for his musical contributions in the community. He has given hundreds of recitals promoted choral singing and oratorios and instructed in piano and organ.

He has written 20 songs, 22 anthems, a sonata, two suites and more than 30 organ numbers, as well as the present cantata. Best known of his compositions are the anthems, "As It Began to Dawn," "The Twenty-Third Psalm," "Before the Lamp of God," and "Thy Will Be Done," and for the organ, "The Mountains," "Reverie," "Chant Sans Paroles," and the "Oriental Suite."

Landis, oldest of a family of five children, was born in Carlisle, Pa., and was graduated from Dickinson College in 1894. As a child he received his first musical instruction from his mother, and loved to play on the family organ. He did not seriously begin the study of music until his graduation from college when he went to New York City and studied the organ with R. Huntington Woodman and the piano with Caia Aarup, and theory of composition with Harry Rowe Shelly and Dudley Buck. He succeeded the late Robert Bell as organist of the Presbyterian Church, Flemington, in 1896. In 1904 he married Katherine Brokaw Ramsey. The couple have two children, John Norman Landis, of Carlisle, Pa., and Miss Barbara Landis, of Flemington.

Red Cross Aides Meet at Princeton

Home Service Committee Discusses Various Phases of Work

PRINCETON, June 17.—Members of the home service committee of the Princeton Red Cross Chapter and representatives of the branches and auxiliaries who are active in this work held a meeting here to discuss various aspects of their duties.

The committee serves as a connecting link between service men and their families, solving many problems which arise as a result of wartime dislocation. Through the Red Cross, members of the armed forces and their dependents are shown how to apply for benefits and claims, while others are put in communication with each other when direct word is impossible. Much data is also sent to commanding officers at army and navy bases which enables them to determine questions of discharge, furlough or clemency.

Mrs. Herbert S. Langfeld is chairman of the home service committee, with Mrs. Geoffrey E. Sage as vice chairman. Princeton members include also Mrs. Eleanor Forsyth, Mrs. Walter Roberts, Mrs. Kenneth H. Condit and Mrs. C. W. Curtis. Mrs. C. Rufus Morey is in charge of foreign messages.

Serving for the branches and auxiliaries are Mrs. Charles C. Cahill and Mrs. James Graham, Allentown; Mrs. C. Stanley Stults and Mrs. William Riley, Hightstown; Mrs. William Gordon, Cranbury; Mrs. Albert Rees, Lawrenceville; Cedric A. Bedine, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. William H.
