

Governor Small Cleared of Pocketing Funds, Repaying $650,000

INTEREST LOST WHILE HE HELD TREASURY POST

Master of Chancery Expected to Set Figure At $800,000

(Associated Press) SPRINGFIELD, Ill. June 4.—Settlement out of court of the $1,000,000 interest suit against Governor Len Small, of Illinois, today ended six years of litigation, with a stipulation clearing the Governor of the charge of pocketing the money himself in 1917 while he was State Treasurer. The Governor agreed to pay $850,000 and costs.

A stipulation agreed to by Attorney General Carlstrom found that the "fidelity of the said defendant, Len Small, solely for interest received by the her defendants."

The stipulation holds, according to the published versions, that the $850,000 was received by Governor Small's co-defendants, Verne S. Curtis, Grant Park, Ill., and the estate of State Senator Edward C. Curtis.

The final report of Charles H. Briggie, Master in Chancery, who has been taking documentary and oral evidence for several months, was understood to set a figure of approximately $800,000.

Strated in 1921, the suit against Governor Small was for an accounting of the interest on approximately $30,000,000 State funds deposited in the Grant Park Bank during his second term as State Treasurer. The amount involved was on money loaned through the Grant Park Bank by Edward and Verne Curtis to Chicago packing concerns. The civil action followed the Governor's resignation in 1921, and the charge that Small owed the State an unspecified sum, the decision being upheld by the Supreme Court. Briggie was directed to make a finding of the exact sum.

Speaks Here Tonight

Bishop Walter Mitchell

FIRST VISIT HERE SINCE PROMOTION

Congregation of St. James' Church Will Hear Ex-Field Secretary

Bishop Walter Mitchell, of the Episcopal missionary district of Arizona, will be the speaker at tonight's service at St. James' Church, Greenwood and Logan Avenues. The service will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Tonight's appearance of the Right Rev. Dr. Mitchell here will be the first since his election to the Episcopal last year. He was formerly secretary of the field department of New Jersey diocese. Previously he was head of the Porter Military Academy, Charleston, N. C.

Bishop Mitchell was consecrated in the presence of the Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, head of the Episcopal Church of America, in January, 1926. The consecration took place at St. Charles Pro-Cathedral. Bishop Mitchell was chosen for the Episcopate at a convention held at New Orleans in 1925.

PHILADELPHIAN CLUB STARTS REORGANIZING

(Associated Press) PRINCETON, N. J., June 4.—Reorganization of the Philadelphia Society, campus body at Princeton University, was started today at a meeting of the board of directors of the society.

Kirk, of Baltimore, Md., a member of the board, urged that one of the keynotes of the society's new policy be "sanctified common sense."

Resignation of six graduate secretaries of the society, which had been questioned by students, necessitated the reorganization.

An organist was appointed for next year by Dr. John McDowell, chairman of the board.

30TH ANNIVERSARY FOR FARM SCHOOL

(Special to Sunday Times-Advertiser) DOYLESTOWN, June 4.—Thirtieth anniversary of the National Farm School will be marked here tomorrow with exercises planned to entertain hundreds of persons interested in agriculture who are expected to attend.

An organist, four of inspection will follow luncheon. The various department heads will explain their work, those participating being: Otto A. Stangel, general farming; D. M. Burmell, horticultural work; H. G. Flesser, landscape gardening; Frank Platin, park inspection; Morris Mayer, greenhouses; and E. W. Wing, inspection of Erlanger dairy barns.

The morning program will be formal, consisting of exercises over which Franklin Spencer Edwards will preside. Dr. T. B. Symons, director of extension service for the University of Maryland, will speak. Two Krauskopf portraits will be presented by Miss Harriet Dalton, dean of the Philadelphia School of Design for Women. Mrs. Joseph McCann will give the invocation. Theres Bernheim, wife of Herbert D. Allman, president of the school, will give the second, painted by Solomon M. Finson.

RAIN INTERFERES BUT CROSSING'S PARK IS DEDICATED WITH SPEECHES; PAGEANT MAY BE PRODUCED LATER

(Continued on Page 1, Part 1) Attorney General Katzenbach congratulated the board in the name of the Governor. Mr. Katzenbach declared that after the Trenton-Princeton campaign in the Revolution, the United States had an appropriate memorial bridge would be constructed between the parks on either side of the river.

During the address, a number of Revolutionary standards were massed together with the American colors before the rostrum. A program of martial and patriotic airs was given by Winkler and the band of the 114th Infantry, New Jersey National Guard.

As originally conceived, in addition to the address, the national salute was to have been directed by Battery B, 112th Field Artillery and the pageant was to have been presented.

The historical spectacle was written expressly for the occasion by Mrs. Lute H. Mitchell, of this city. It was to have depicted various scenes having taken place in this vicinity from the time that the Indians held the country until after the Revolution. Members of Elkins Ophanat Post, American Legion, its Women's Auxiliary, British-American World War Veterans and others were cast for the various parts. Although the pageant was presented, the characters marched into the hall in their costumes during the exercises.

State Forester Charles F. Wilber, in charge of arrangements for the celebration. A detail of State Police under the command of Captain William O. Nicol, of the Burlington Station, directed traffic. Trenton Boy Scouts distributed programs and acted as ushers.

SPANS CONTINENT IN RECORD SPEED

Driver Glimpsed Here Reaches New York After Grueling Run

L. B. Miller, of San Francisco, who passed through Trenton Friday night on his trans-continental automobile run, reached New York after 79 hours and 55 minutes on the road.

The time elapsed was three hours and 17 minutes faster than the previous record, also held by Miller, who drove a car over the same route last August in 83 hours and 12 minutes.

The feat of covering the distance over the historic Lincoln Highway, 3,385 miles, not only stands as a record in point of time, but represents an achievement in automobile endurance, stamina and dependability which, in the opinion of Miller, places the Chrysler in a position of unchallenged supremacy over all other automobiles as the outstanding motor car of the world.

Miller drove an imperial "80," five-passenger phaeton.

The time of the trip was checked by the Lincoln Highway Association and a telephone company. Officials of both organizations were present to stamp Miller's cards on leaving and at the time of arriving. A further check was made available by telegrams thrown from the car at key points along the route.

The trip just completed was arranged to demonstrate a newly invented non-glare headlight. Miller attributes his success in performing his remarkable feat to a combination of his automobile's excellence and superior lighting, which enabled him to make better time in both day and night driving.

Miller, as on his trip last August, was J. E. Wieber, of Portland, Ore., who acted as relief driver.

Throughout the entire run neither man slept a wink. The car was ready for gas and oil. At filling stations, brick ice cream, ordered ahead by wire, was ready for the drivers, and during the vacations. Back in 1925 he was ready for the drivers, and during the vacations. Glass Prints Become Popular With Students at Art School; Included in This Week's Exhibit

Glass prints have become a popular medium of art work during the past year or two at the School of Industrial Arts. Fogged photographic plates are the starting point. With an etcher's needle the young artists then scratch the design in the emulsion and then print as in the practice of photography. But one print has a soft effect something like that achieved in dry point and this was printed with the glass next to the paper and the emulsion towards the printing light. Still more variety can be obtained by using tinted paper or by redeveloping the prints to sepia tones. Practically any trick employed by a photographer may be applied in glass printing the number of possible effects obtainable from a single design being limited only by the photographic ingenuity of the artist.

These prints will be shown in the annual exhibition of the work of the students at the Art School Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, afternoon and evening. The collection along with many etchings and pen drawings, will be displayed on the fifth floor of the Kelsey Memorial Building. George A. Bradshaw is the instructor in these lines of work.

DRUGGISTS MEET FOR ORGANIZATION

Plans for forming a Mercer County Druggists' Association were formulated at a dinner held last Thursday night at the Carretter Club to Dr. Robert P.
